Help Save the Yellowstone Bison
Our National Mammal

There are over 500,000 bison in North America. Nearly all of them are livestock or “beefalo” a hybrid of cattle and bison raised for food. From 11,000 to 13,000 remain in the public trust as wild. The wild herds in Yellowstone are unique: they are not landlocked, or living behind fences, or domesticated as livestock. They are the direct descendants of the 30 million bison that roamed wild across North America.

- Prior to the arrival of Europeans, bison inhabited and roamed vast stretches of land covering one-third of North America’s land mass. Hornaday 1889.
- Bison currently occupy <1% of their historical range. Sanderson et al. 2008.
- In the first decades of Euro-American contact with the Greater Yellowstone ecosystem, bison were “spectacularly abundant in lower river valleys and prairie habitats and were all but exterminated” by 1882. Schullery & Whittlesey 2006.
- Because of the severe curtailment and loss of range historically and currently (>99%), bison are “ecologically extinct” and no longer can fulfill their keystone ecological roles in the wild. Freese et al. 2007; Sanderson et al. 2008.
- Bison are near threatened with few populations functioning as wild. Aune, Jørgensen & Gates 2018.
- Traill (2010) and colleagues found that populations of endangered species are unlikely to persist in the face of global climate change and habitat loss unless they number around 5,000 mature individuals or more.
- Just 200 years ago, plains bison Bison bison bison numbered 30–50 million in herds of up to 10000 animals (Redford & Fearn 2007). By the late 1800s, massive overhunting and land use change reduced the population to roughly 1,000 individuals, <1% of the historical population size. Giglio et al. 2016.

Please help BFC protect Yellowstone bison under the Endangered Species Act.

GETTING HERE

From Bozeman, Montana: Hwy 191 South (approx. 90 miles).

NOTE: The west gate into Yellowstone National Park is open to regular auto travel in the summer months only, from mid-April through early November. Winter access is by commercially guided snowcoach or snowmobile only.

West Yellowstone Airport (WYS): Located just one mile north of West Yellowstone. Open Mid-May-Early October. Served by SkyWest Airlines (Delta Connection). AVIS & Budget Car Rentals on site.

Other area airports serving West Yellowstone year-round include Bozeman (90 miles N.) and Idaho Falls, ID (110 miles S.).

WEATHER

Located at an elevation of 6,666 feet, mountain weather can be unpredictable. Summer average temperatures are in the 70s and 80s (F), lows in 40s & 50s (F). Winter temperatures can be among the coldest in the Lower 48, highs in the 20s & 30s (F) during the day to below zero at night. The ground is covered in snow. In fall and spring, crisp mornings are frequently followed by cool, brilliant days.

WHAT TO WEAR: Layering clothes will help keep you comfortable all day. You should also have a water-resistant, windproof outer layer. Boots, hats and gloves are a must for winter.

DRIVING TIPS

YEAR-ROUND
- Use turn-outs to let others by!
- No littering. Never throw cigarettes out the window.
- Watch for wildlife on the road.

WINTER - We have snow - be prepared!
- Roads can be snow-packed and icy. SLOW DOWN.
- Carry chains at all times from November-April.
- Keep your gas tank and windshield wiper fluid full.

SUMMER
- Keep air-conditioning off to prevent overheating.
- Carry plenty of water with you.

SPRING

SPRING IS A UNIQUE TIME OF THE YEAR. Enjoy the solitude of nature before the crowds of summer. For those who like to be outdoors and on the move – West Yellowstone is the real place to be for a spring adventure.

SPRING is a time of change and renewal in West Yellowstone. From mid-March to mid-April, the west entrance to Yellowstone opens to people-powered vehicles only. These “cycle-only” days allow bikers to see the first splashes of color as green sedges and bright yellow monkey-flowers emerge amidst dwindling snow banks. Bison trudge along the roads and elk feed along the rivers.

May brings bison calves and bison jams on the roadways. Bison begin calving in mid-April and by May you can start to see hundreds of bright reddish-brown calves among the bison herds. The bison gather in traditional “nursery” areas such as Fountain Flats just north of Old Faithful or in areas along rivers such as Lamar and Hayden Valleys.

It is the best time for bear sightings as grizzly and black bears make their way down from higher elevations to the meadows and rivers. Where else but Yellowstone can you have a ring-side seat to witness the sheer strength of a bear tearing apart a rotten tree stump or carcass? And, then just a few miles later, watch as a sow gently noses her wayward cubs across a busy road with everyone stopped for the first “bear jam” of the season?

LOCAL EXPERIENCE:
Crust Cruising: A euphoric phenomena allowing skate skiers to travel over large open areas, determined solely by Mother Nature. Skate skiers can literally ski anywhere by staying on top of the hard crust that has formed over the snow. Get up early and be rewarded. Popular spots: Hebgen Lake, Big Horn Pass, Fawn Pass, and the meadows near the Rendezvous Ski Trails.
The locations indicate where wildlife has been spotted. We recommend bringing binoculars or a spotting scope to see wildlife located away from roads or in higher locations.

1 In = 2 miles

Note: Spring weather is unpredictable and can affect road access. See the back for important contact information.
When it comes to summertime activities, the West Yellowstone area is an outdoor enthusiast’s paradise. The long summer days provide visitors unlimited access to explore and play in the splendor of the high country. You can fish blue ribbon trout streams, hike in pristine wilderness, experience real western horseback riding, go whitewater rafting or mountain bike on hundreds of miles of single track and forest service roads.

In addition to regal Yellowstone National Park right next door, with its famous geysers, wildlife and waterfalls, there's adventure to be found just to the West. Hebgen Lake, with its miles and miles of shoreline offers camping, boating, canoeing and the best still water fishing in Montana. Or, take an afternoon and learn to kayak on this clear mountain lake surrounded by beautiful mountains. Just beyond is Earthquake Lake, formed the night of August 17, 1959 when a 7.5 quake rocked the Madison Valley and a mountain fell.

With summer comes a choice of activities; weekly Wild West Yellowstone Rodeo, the Yellowstone Historic Museum Center, daily...
Yellowstone Ranger talks, and other programs just for kids like the Junior Smokejumper’s Program.

Don’t miss a genuine small town 4th of July, where anyone can be in the parade, listen to live music, enjoy barbecues at the City Park, and end the day with an incredible fireworks display set against a backdrop of mountains.
FALL

FALL BRINGS SPECTACULAR SCENERY and the annual elk mating season where huge bull elk battle for their harems with eerie echoing bugles across wide valleys. Cooler fall temperatures create spectacular photo opportunities at Old Faithful and other geysers in Yellowstone Park. It’s the best time of the year for mountain biking, road cycling, hiking, and photography in Yellowstone and the surrounding National Forests.

Spawnning runs of big brown and battling rainbow trout migrate from Hebgen Lake up the Madison, Gallatin, and Firehole Rivers. This makes West Yellowstone the prime fishing destination each fall, earning the title as one of the “Top 10 Trout Towns in America” by Forbes Magazine.

Even a rainy fall day is fun with a visit to the Grizzly & Wolf Discovery Center. Meet the wolf packs or different resident grizzly bears, observe the raptors or river otters, talk to a Naturalist, and check out the “Keeper Kids Program.” Next door the movie, “Yellowstone,” plays daily at the Yellowstone Giant Screen Theatre with a six story movie screen.

Late fall features the annual West Yellowstone Old Faithful Cycle Tour. This roundtrip cycle ride circles through Yellowstone National Park from West Yellowstone to Old Faithful and back. With feed stations along the way... and a snag wagon to grab a lift if you get tired, it is the perfect family cycling event. Or, take a hike on any of the forest service trails or Rendezvous Trails. Be sure to carry bear spray.

WHAT TO WEAR: Layering clothes will help keep you comfortable all day. You should also have a water-resistant, windproof outer layer. Lightweight hat and gloves are not a bad idea either, as snow showers are known to happen as early as September.
Terra Nova Cabins represents the best in western hospitality and comfort, wrapped in a contemporary expression that will inspire your own unique adventures.

Outside the park there are millions of acres of public lands for snowmobilers and cross-country skiers to enjoy. Explore over 400 hundred miles of groomed snowmobile trails by West Yellowstone and the State of Idaho in the surrounding National Forests.

Over 50km of groomed Nordic ski trails start from town. The Rendezvous Ski Trail system offers a groomed 35KM trail, usually groomed daily and available from November through April. The Boundary Ski Trail (pet-friendly) and Yellowstone Park’s Riverside Trail also start from West Yellowstone.

If you’re fortunate enough to experience Yellowstone in the winter, you’re in for a rare treat. The snow covered landscape, frozen waterfalls and frosted trees when, contrasted with geysers and other geothermal features, create a surreal winterscape. If you’re lucky enough to venture into the backcountry, you will encounter a quiet calm that for some is a transcendental experience.
West Yellowstone tour companies offer over the snow day-long tours into Yellowstone via snowmobile or snowcoach. Tours begin on December 15th and end on March 15th each winter, weather dependent. Snowmobile tours include all the equipment and clothing that you will need for a day in the park.

CHECKLIST:

- Warm clothes including thermals, wool, gloves, hats, boots (Dress in layers)
- Water-resistant pants & jacket
- Goggles or sunglasses, lip balm, sunblock

ATV and OHV riders now have a new resource when recreating on the trails around West Yellowstone. The new OHV map, created in 2017, mimics our Snowmobile Trail map, and shows the trails both in Montana around West Yellowstone and Idaho around Island Park.

The trail maps are available at several locations in West Yellowstone and Island Park including the Chambers/Visitor Centers and Forest Service offices.

Reminder: Off-highway vehicles operating on public land for recreational purposes must be registered and display a decal placed in a conspicuous location on the machine.

Residents: OHVs must be registered at the County Treasurer’s office in the county where the owner resides. This is a one-time registration and valid until the current owner sells the OHV.

Nonresidents: Nonresidents using their OHVs in Montana must purchase a Nonresident Annual Use Permit, which is valid for the calendar year (January 1 – December 31). Residents of Idaho and North Dakota are exempt. The Nonresident Annual Use Permit allows OHV use on trails only. OHVs must be street legal to be ridden on roads.

Permits are $27 and available through the Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks Online Licensing Service, at any FWP office, or at Permit Vendors.

VISIT THE MUSEUM OF THE YELLOWSTONE!

Located in the historic Union Pacific Depot in West Yellowstone, the Museum of the Yellowstone offers visitors an opportunity to learn about the history of tourism and travel in Yellowstone National Park. “Ho! For Yellowstone,” the featured exhibit, highlights the evolution of transportation through Yellowstone beginning with stagecoaches and ending with modern-day snowmobiles. On display are a number of historic vehicles including a Mount Washburn Special stagecoach and a 1938 Model 706 yellow bus.

The Museum also has exhibits on the unique heritage of West Yellowstone. These exhibits tell the stories of adventurous pioneers who made homes here and Union Pacific employees that spent their summers exploring the area and serving the tourists. Movies are shown daily, including films on the 1988 fires and the 1959 earthquake. Staff members lead guided walking tours of the historic district of West Yellowstone throughout the summer.

The Museum of the Yellowstone is managed by the Yellowstone Historic Center, a local non-profit. For more information, including admission prices, hours, and program schedules, please visit www.yellowstonehistoriccenter.org or call 406-646-1100.
EXPERIENCE THE GRIZZLY & WOLF DISCOVERY CENTER

Complete your Yellowstone adventure by stopping at the Grizzly & Wolf Discovery Center in West Yellowstone, Montana. Observe LIVE grizzly bears and gray wolves at this Association of Zoos and Aquariums accredited not-for-profit Wildlife Park and Educational Facility. Watch the bears forage for food, interact with each other and fish for live trout in their ponds. Early morning and evening visitors are almost certain to experience the wolf packs howling. Activities include: Keeper Kid’s (hide food for the bears), Wolf Enrichment, Bird of Prey presentations, Safety in Bear Country Programs, Yellowstone Park Ranger talks, Uinta Ground Squirrel and Bird of Prey exhibits, intriguing films and presentations. Explore Bears: Imagination & Reality, an interactive museum display. Visit the Naturalist Cabin to see exceptional views of two separate wolf packs through floor-to-ceiling windows.

Our mission of providing visitors to the Yellowstone area an opportunity to observe, understand, and ultimately appreciate grizzly bears and gray wolves has been taken to a new level with the addition of the Banks of the Yellowstone – A Riparian Habitat! This new exhibit will feature live North American river otters and will be open in the spring of 2019.
Banks of the Yellowstone guests will be treated to an impressive building with informative displays and naturalistic exhibits designed to allow the animals to interact with their environment. A large otter habitat, complete with crashing waterfalls, highly diverse land areas and a deep flowing river complete with underwater viewing is the centerpiece of the building. A large dynamic trout exhibit houses some of the species that reside in the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. Visitors will be able to experience otters and trout fully engaged with their environment. Interspersed between these two exciting waterways are a number of other smaller habitats that help tell the story of riparian ecosystems. Visible just outside, a wolf habitat has been extended to the new building allowing for the unique ability to visualize the diverse relationships between predators, prey and habitats.

All the animals at the Center are unable to survive in the wild and serve as ambassadors for their wild counterparts.

The Grizzly bears that reside at the Center are animals that were unable to survive in the wild for different reasons. Many were orphaned when their mothers were able to obtain unsecured human food and garbage. Others had been labeled “nuisance bears” because they were becoming dangerously comfortable around humans. These animals have a second chance at the Center and their stories help share an important lesson. From them we learn how humans and wildlife can coexist.

The wolves were captive-born and cannot be released into the wild. They’ve been given the opportunity to develop strong social ties. Wolf behavior is fascinating and can be observed as these animals interact throughout the day. Watch for body posturing, ear position, location in their habitat and tail position. These clues reveal much about wolf behavior and social bonding. Watching wolves howl in harmony is definitely an event that should not be missed!

A visit to the Center is an educational and entertaining enhancement to any trip. Learning how bears and wolves have been able to survive in the Yellowstone Ecosystem adds an invaluable experience to any vacation.

Open 365 days a year (GWDC bears DO NOT hibernate) Activities and viewing both INSIDE AND OUT. Admission is good for two consecutive days. One block from Yellowstone National Park.
In springtime, Yellowstone’s ‘babes’ are out in force, offering incredible photo opportunities. Small groups of BISON are on the move along roadways and rivers back into Yellowstone from their nursery areas.

Check the large areas along the Lower Geyser Basin area. Along Fountain Flat Drive, you can see hundreds of bison cows and calves. Calves, who resemble large, playful, bright red dogs, run, butt heads, and play in meadows.

ELK can be found along the rivers and in wet meadows. Pregnant cows should be dropping calves soon, if not already. Watch along the edges of the pines in early evening for any new calves.

While the bison rut can begin as early as mid-July, the real show is in August in Hayden Valley where thousands of bison gather for the annual mating. Bulls communicate and dominate by a series of sounds that range from snorts and grunts to all-out bellows.

Visiting Yellowstone Park in the fall has been one of the best kept travel secrets for seasoned park travelers. This is the time of year when the sounds of the rivers and thump of the thermals replaces the sound of summer’s stream of passing cars. Now, is the time to see the unusual – a favorite bird sitting on a still pond, a young moose meandering along a stream, or a group of playful otters jumping on and off a log on the banks of the Yellowstone River.

Every turn brings a photo waiting to be taken. Snow-capped peaks expose their true heights, while snowdrifts outline crags and crannies harder to spot in other seasons. A coating of frost lines riverbanks, while blocks of ice bob down the rivers. Thermals are more noticeable as the colder fall temperatures create billowing clouds and highlight soft steamy tendrils from hidden corners. This is a time to walk the boardwalks, sometimes with just a grazing elk cow and calf for company.

One of Yellowstone’s most famous events is the annual elk rut or mating season (mid-late September). Older bulls begin to hang around the edges of the cow herd and are constantly acting out to drive off other bulls and retain dominance. Watch for the large bulls in the Canyon, Gibbon Meadow, and Mammoth Hot Springs areas.

The big Madison River bull elk really work their ‘harems’ along the Madison River meadows. They demonstrate their dominance by tearing up the ground and small bushes, even staging mock battles.

Bulls also attract females and signal dominance with “bugling” …long sustained bugles that end with that low, guttural thumping. During the fall, Yellowstone valleys echo with the eerie sound of bulls challenging each other by bugling.

BIRDING

Over 311 species of birds have been documented in Yellowstone. Arm yourself with binoculars, a Yellowstone Bird Field Checklist, a camera with a good zoom, and a good illustrated guide, and you are ready to go birding.

Perhaps the most famous bird nest in the Park is located six miles east of the West Entrance on the south side of the road in a large dead fir. Look for the large snag supporting a big stick nest near the top approximately 100 yards from the road. Locals claimed that there have been eagles nesting here for well over 50 years.

Yellowstone is home to the largest population of trumpeter swans in the Lower 48 states. There are basically two trumpeter swan flocks in Yellowstone, a resident year-round population and a migratory winter population.

Seven miles in from the West Entrance is an area called ‘Seven Mile Bridge.’ Nesting trumpeter swans, soras, herons, and common snipe can all be seen from the turnouts there. Hayden Valley is another location for heron sightings.

Migratory birds can be seen including savannah sparrows, ruby-crowned kinglets, yellow-rumped warblers, and mountain bluebirds. Ravens are also fun to watch just for their mischievous antics.

Near Fishing Bridge, look for White Pelican and both Barrow’s and Common Goldeneye, as well as Bald Eagles and Osprey. Watch for Sandhill Cranes in the Fountain Flats area.

Some of the park’s best birding can be found by driving from West Thumb, on Yellowstone Lake, east and north to Tower and west to Mammoth Hot Springs. As you skirt Yellowstone Lake to Fishing Bridge, stop where you can to scan for Common Loon, American White Pelican, Double-crested Cormorant, Trumpeter Swan, Barrow’s Goldeneye, California Gull, and other water birds, as well as Osprey and Bald Eagle.

Along the Yellowstone River, watch for the White-throated Swift flying through canyons or the American Dipper among the rocks in the rapids areas. This area is also home to the rare Harlequin Duck.

At Mammoth, watch for the Black-billed Magpie, Mountain Bluebird and Townsend’s Solitaire. American Dippers should be active along the rushing stream, and with luck you may see a Lazuli Bunting above on the rugged cliffs of McMinn Bench.

If you are lucky enough to make it to Beartooth Pass (on the Beartooth Scenic Highway), watch for Peregrine Falcons and Golden Eagles, as well as migrant summer visitors, American Pipits and Black Rosy-finches.

Outside of the Park, the area west of Yellowstone also has great birding and wildlife viewings, especially in the spring and fall. Look at the West of Yellowstone map on page 12 for ideas.
Photography isn’t just snapping pictures of beautiful scenes, loved ones or animals. It’s preserving memories of things you treasure. Through photography you can bring a person from their spot in the world to yours. You can show them things they’ll never see and open worlds to them that they’ll never experience. They can stand with you among the geological wonders of Yellowstone or watch as a grizzly bear nurses her cubs. That’s how powerful a photograph can be if the subject is captured correctly.

Photographs are created by making choices and making the right choices depends on the knowledge of the photographer. A photographer friend of mine says that you don’t “take” a picture; you “make” a picture. He’s absolutely correct, because YOU decide on the subject, the lighting, what’s to be included in the picture, the time of day, etc. and that’s what “makes” a picture.

Great photographs are not necessarily the result of having the best equipment in the world. It’s how you use what you have. Anyone can “make” an incredible photograph by following some basic principles.

One thing that is absolutely crucial is knowing how to use your camera correctly, whether it’s an iPhone or an expensive camera. The time to figure that out is before you get to your destination, not when you’re trying to get that once in a lifetime photograph. Read your manual, take some practice shots and always check your camera settings before taking a picture. Make sure you’re using the correct shutter speed, aperture, ISO or Mode.

Decide on your subject. What do your want your viewer to see? What's your story? Every picture should tell a story.

You’ll have a more interesting picture if you compose in thirds, placing your subject to the side of the frame and leaving some space in front of your subject, especially if the subject is a person or an animal. Placing the subject in the center normally creates a more static picture and that’s not what you want. Lines that lead towards your subject will help the viewer see what you want them to see and feel what you felt when you created the picture.

Try to take pictures in the early morning or in the evening when the light is nice instead of in the middle of the day when the sun is bright and the shadows harsh. Don’t put the camera away when it’s foggy. Those days are great for environmental and surreal pictures.

Make sure your shutter speed is fast enough and that you have enough light. Hold your camera steady and use a tripod if possible. Raise your ISO if needed. A little noise is better than a blurry picture. Capture moments!

Think about what story you want to tell, how you want to tell it and what you want the viewer to “see” when they view the image that you’ve created.

To see more of my pictures visit http://carolynfoxphotos.com and enjoy Yellowstone!

TIPS FOR BETTER PHOTOS

1. Decide on a center of attention
2. Capture moments
3. Compose in thirds
4. Avoid camera shake
5. Check camera settings before taking a picture
6. Check the light source
7. Choose the appropriate aperture, shutter speed and ISO
8. Create a sense of depth
9. Use a simple background
10. Practice, practice, practice

BIKING

YELLOWSTONE PARK

Shortly after Yellowstone Park closes to oversnow traffic (March 15th) to the third week in April, some of the roads open for “Cycle-Only Days.” Only bikes (no public vehicles) are allowed on roads and there is no admission fee when riding from the West Yellowstone entrance to Mammoth as conditions allow. There are no services available and riders must pack in/pack out all supplies. Even after Yellowstone’s roads open to motorized traffic, the cycling in the Park is good. Most of the roads in Yellowstone have a wide enough shoulder to provide safe riding although it is also true that some sections of road have no shoulder. Be aware of motorized vehicles, as visitors can stop unexpectedly for wildlife!

In the fall, the supported “West Yellowstone Old Faithful Cycle Tour” is a terrific way to experience Yellowstone National Park. Registration opens in June and is limited.

MOUNTAIN BIKING

The Rendezvous Ski Trails provide the most popular and easy access mountain biking. You can access a variety of rolling single tracks that wind through the middle of the ski trails. There are cutoffs throughout the trails system allowing riders to choose short, medium or long distance rides. The Riverside Trail is accessible from the eastern edge of West Yellowstone at the corner of Boundary Street and Madison Avenue. The trail is a little more than a mile each way and is relatively flat. It is a great spot to take younger kids or head to the picnic tables next to the Madison River for a unique lunch spot. There are a limited number of bike trails in Yellowstone National Park. Most are reclaimed roads and more information can be found on the Park’s website.

For the more ambitious, there are plenty of longer, challenging rides waiting for you outside of town. Tepee Creek to Red Canyon, Coffin Lake, Lion’s Head and Mile Creek are all rides located on US Forest Service land. West Yellowstone is also very close to stretches of the Continental Divide Trail. Although located in Idaho, you will find the Targhee Creek Trail and the Sawtelle Trail easily accessible from West Yellowstone.

The TransAmerica Trail, which goes right through West Yellowstone, is consistently used throughout the summer months. The start of our mountain biking season depends largely on how heavy our winter snow pack is come springtime. At lower elevations, it is often June before roads and trails dry out enough to make cycling possible. At higher elevations, we sometimes have to wait until July before we can access the trails.

ROAD CYCLING
Outside the Park, a 64-mile loop called “the block” is a popular ride. For those looking for a shorter ride, Highway 287 is a good bet. It’s probably the most scenic and safest section of “the block”. You can park your car at the intersection of Highway 191 and 287 and head out from there and travel along the north shore of Hebgen Lake.

HIKING
The Custer-Gallatin National Forest and Madison Range around West Yellowstone is a hiker’s dream, offering an abundance of hiking and backpacking options on millions of acres of public land. Miles of trails wind past aspen and pine, tranquil meadows and impressive peaks.

The Rendezvous Trail System is open to hikers and bikers in the summer. Another trail, used year-round is the Boundary Trail, which is accessed on the north-east end of town and follows along the Park Line. These trails are also dog-friendly during the summer months. A local hiking favorite is the Coffin Lakes trail ending at a pair of high mountain lakes. Nearby Lee Metcalf Wilderness includes the Monument Mountain Unit which borders Yellowstone and is home to spectacular scenery and wildlife.

Yellowstone has over 1,100 miles of hiking trails fitting every type, difficulty and length of trail imaginable. The Riverside Trail leaves right from West Yellowstone and follows a mellow trail along the river right into Yellowstone.

TOP HIKES IN YELLOWSTONE:
One of the best places for a day hike or backpacking adventure, according to the staff at Outdoorplace.com is Canyon Country – less traveled, good trails, where you can see four key Yellowstone features in four miles including the Grand Canyon of Yellowstone, thermal mud pots, vents, and lakes, old growth forest, and open meadow. The hike starts at Uncle Tom’s Trailhead and takes you past the rim of canyon, Artist’s Point, and several lakes.

These hikes are only a sampling of what West Yellowstone and the Yellowstone Park area have to offer. For more options and information about these and other hikes, visit DestinationYellowstone.com

This is bear and wolf country and hikers should be informed and prepared. More information visit the Hebgen Lake District office or the Yellowstone Park desk at the Visitor Center. A free all-seasons area trail map is available from the Visitor Center or online at DestinationYellowstone.com.

An authentic gold rush town born in 1863, now frozen in time. Original buildings remain, once housed dry goods stores, gold assays, crooked lawmen and Vigilante law, now are host to restaurants, gift shops, museums, live theaters and more.

Only 90 minutes from West Yellowstone on your way to Glacier Park!
Among the most perfect ways to start a West Yellowstone vacation day may be kayaking or canoeing out in the early morning light with the mist still rising from the waters of Hebgen or Quake Lake. An afternoon of exploring brings an awesome awareness of the dynamic forces that formed the Madison River Canyon. On a hot day, can anything bring more family fun than tubing or skiing on the lake?

BOATING & FISHING

Hebgen Lake is Montana’s premiere still water fishing lake with rainbow, brown and cutthroat trout averaging 15-20". Ice moves off in April, and by July the water warms for swimming. July-September is the best time for water sports. Hebgen accommodates both large and small boats, personal watercraft, kayaks, canoes, paddleboats and sailboats. Watch the shores for wildlife sightings including otters, beavers, foxes, wolves, deer, moose, elk, bear, bighorn sheep, and mountain goats. Ospreys, bald and golden eagles, hawks, herons, pelicans, swans and many varieties of waterfowl make this a great birding location.

At six miles long, 180+ feet deep, with submerged trees, Quake Lake offers great fishing for brown and rainbow trout. A boat ramp offers access for small motorboats, canoes or kayaks.

WHITEWATER RAFTING

Explore the Gallatin or Yellowstone Rivers with a whitewater rafting company. Tours are available for all experience levels, from beginner to advanced.

DIP A PADDLE

Get a close-up view of the water with a canoe, kayak or paddle board adventure. Hire a guide or rent equipment and head out on your own. Popular locations: Yellowstone Lake in Yellowstone National Park and Hebgen Lake just north of West Yellowstone.

For a list of what to wear, frequently asked questions and local companies, visit DestinationYellowstone.com
West Yellowstone earned the title of America’s “Top Ten Fishing Towns” (Forbes Magazine) for unparalleled year-round fishing. Top blue-ribbon trout streams surround West Yellowstone: the Madison, Gallatin, Yellowstone and the Henrys Fork of the Snake. The upper Madison, the Firehole, and the Gibson Rivers are just minutes away in Yellowstone. Unbeatable float and deep-water fishing abound on Hebgen Lake and Earthquake Lake, Henrys Lake and Island Park Reservoir.

Hebgen Lake, located northwest of town, is approximately fifteen miles long and four miles wide. The lake is known as one of Montana’s premier stillwater and dry fly fishing fisheries. Several marinas offer docks, as well as convenient boating (including rentals) and fishing supplies.

Fishing Hebgen Lake turns into an addiction in August as big rising browns and rainbows (“Gulpers”) in the 2-4lb range consistently hit the surface of the lake chasing the Callibaetis hatch.

Many of the fly fishing shops in West Yellowstone offer packages for fisherman of all levels, complete with equipment and instruction. Take a day and enjoy the waters of Montana with an experienced guide and make it a trip to remember. Be careful as you may become hooked for life.

Float trips are also fun and exciting way to experience the waters near West Yellowstone. The spectacular views of the surrounding area and wildlife, are truly a memorable experience for novice or advanced anglers alike. Most local shops offer a wide variety of fishing experiences including full day trips to half day trips, and even some evening guided trips.

Most waters in Yellowstone Park are open for fishing from late May to early November, between the hours of 5am and 10pm. A valid Yellowstone National Park fishing license is required for all anglers over 12 years of age. Licenses are available at local fly shops or Yellowstone Park Visitor Centers and ranger stations.

Make sure to obtain a regulations book as it contains specific information about restrictions, as well as maps and locations. Regulations are often complex concerning fishing seasons, temporary and/or permanent area closures, tackle restrictions, and species specific number and size limits.

The Madison River, both inside and outside Yellowstone Park, is at its prime, along with the Gibbon and Firehole rivers inside the park. You can often find some solitary fishing and match the hatch fishing. Depending on weather conditions you may see Pale Morning Duns, Blue-Winged Olives, or two species of caddis.

Fishing isn’t only a summer excursion. Fly fisherman can be seen wading waste deep in the icy waters of the Gallatin and Madison Rivers, and ice fishing has become a popular winter experience. Hebgen Lake is becoming an ice fishing destination during the winter months, producing some fine sized rainbow and brown trout.
DAY TRIPS

MADISON RIVER CANYON EARTHQUAKE AREA
Leave West Yellowstone on US 20 over the Targhee Pass into Idaho and make a right turn onto Idaho 87. At the next junction you will turn right again onto US 287. The driving adventure begins as you pass through the Madison River Canyon which, in 1959, was struck by one of the largest earthquakes ever recorded on the North American continent. Measuring 7.9 on the Richter scale, the earthquake caused an enormous landslide and sent 80 million tons of rock tumbling into the canyon, obstructing the flow of the Madison River. Today the Madison River Canyon Earthquake Area is of great scientific and general interest. Points of interest include the Visitors Center, Memorial Boulder, Ghost Village and Refuge Point.

VIRGINIA AND NEVADA CITIES
Virginia City was designated a National Historic Landmark in 1961 and listed in the National Register of Historic Places in 1976. The area holds claim to the largest collection of Gold Rush era buildings in the West. Currently 50 standing structures date back to the height of the Gold Rush when nearly 20,000 hardy souls called it home. At its peak, Nevada City boasted dozens of stores and cabins. In 1872, the town had a miner’s store, a brewery, a butcher, a blacksmith, a livery stable and a Masonic hall. But by 1876, boom turned to bust, and Nevada City became a Ghost Town and currently is the site of many of Montana’s relocated historic buildings. During peak season, take a ride on the Alder Gulch Shortline Railroad that runs between Virginia City and Nevada City.

LEWIS & CLARK CAVERNS
Though Lewis & Clark never saw the caverns, they were discovered in 1892, and are Montana’s first and best-known state park. The Caverns showcase one of the most highly decorated limestone caverns in the Northwest. Naturally air conditioned, these spectacular caves, lined with stalactites, stalagmites, columns, and helicitites, date back through time.

OTHER SOUTHWEST MONTANA OPTIONS:
- Missouri Headwaters State Park where Lewis and Clark had followed the Missouri River hoping to find a route to the Pacific Ocean. The area abounds with interpretive displays highlighting the Native American tribes that roamed the area.
- Three Forks is a great stop to visit the Headwaters Heritage Museum. You may also want to include a visit to the Madison Buffalo Jump.
- Bozeman will put a little pep in your step with the bustling downtown.
- Big Sky is a great stop for a snack or local brew, or one of our favorites is a short hike to Ousel Falls.

IDAHO
Big Springs & Johnny Sack Cabin: Big Springs is the head waters of the Henry’s Fork of the Snake River. 120 million gallons of water flow from this spring every day making it one of the largest springs in the country. Take a short easy walk on the interpretive trail board walk that leads downstream along the Big Springs National Water Trail. On the Historic Register, the Johnny Sack Cabin can be reached via a short, paved walking path starting in the campground at Big Springs.

Mesa Falls Scenic Byway: To reach Mesa Falls Scenic Byway take US 20 from West Yellowstone into Idaho approximately 34 miles. Watch for the Scenic Byway Idaho 47, where it turns left. This Scenic Byway includes the Upper and Lower Mesa Falls.

Cave Falls / Bechler Area: The Hidden Part of Yellowstone that is actually in Idaho. The Bechler region is the “wettest part of Yellowstone. It is dubbed “Cascade Corner” because of the many water falls. This trip is best taken after July 1st because part of the route travels on a gravel road that is minimally maintained.

Teton Scenic Byway: Make a day to visit Grand Teton National Park - a geological “gold mine” of adventure. Take the Mesa Falls Scenic Byway trip to Ashton and on Idaho 32, along the western side of the Teton Range. The trip will take you through the Teton Pass into Jackson Hole, WY and on to Grand Teton National Park, back through Yellowstone.

CAMPING AND RVING

Visitors to West Yellowstone and Yellowstone Park that want to camp have a wide choice of options from basic backcountry sites to developed national forest campsites to full amenities at private campgrounds.

Public campgrounds outside of West Yellowstone are open from mid-May through September, weather dependent.

RV campgrounds can be as small as a few dozen sites to booming resorts with hundreds of sites, catering to RVs of every type and size. Some RVers prefer the simple solitude of campgrounds that provide merely the basics of electricity and fresh water at the site. Others prefer full-service options with electricity, water and sewer hookups for each RV. Electronically dependent travelers appreciate the Wi-Fi service provided at many campgrounds.

No matter whether you’re a family looking for an action-packed trip, a couple seeking relaxation and pampering or somewhere in between, there’s an RV site waiting for you.

For a list of campgrounds and RV parks in or near West Yellowstone, visit DestinationYellowstone.com, or check out the directory on page 70.

NORDIC SKIING

The area surrounding West Yellowstone offers some of the best cross country skiing in Yellowstone Country. The Rendezvous Ski Trails at the edge of town, the Riverside Trail leaving from West Yellowstone, and 40 miles of ski trails in the Old Faithful area offer great trails and scenery for skiers of all abilities. The Boundary Trail, which follows the western edge of Yellowstone, is free and ‘dog-friendly.’

There are also daily snowcoach tours leaving from West Yellowstone that offer cross-country skier drop-offs and pick-ups as part of the tour.

Ski event season kicks off Thanksgiving week with the annual Yellowstone Ski Festival, and continues with biathlons, Taste of the Trails and culminates with the Rendezvous Ski Race.

The Nordic ski season around West Yellowstone can last into the late spring, depending on snow conditions. In the mornings, locals like to go North of town to ski on Hebgen Lake for a little experience we call Crust Cruising. It is defined as a euphoric phenomena allowing skate skiers to travel over large open areas, determined solely by Mother Nature. Skate skiers can literally ski anywhere by staying on top of the hard crust that has formed over the snow. Other popular areas include Big Horn Pass, Fawn Pass, and the meadows near the Rendezvous Ski Trails.

POPPULAR TRAILS

RENDEZVOUS TRAILS
Located at the southwest corner of town, the trail system covers more than 35 km of varied terrain from gently rolling hills to more challenging climbs, descents, and turns. The view is always scenic whether winding through tall stands of lodgepole pine or open meadows embraced by nearby Lionhead Mountain. During the winter season, trails are groomed regularly. A children’s play hill and local tele-hill are also incorporated into the system. Trail passes are required when between November 1 and March 31.

BOUNDARY TRAIL
The Boundary Ski and Snowshoe Trail offers 7.9km of trails that parallel Yellowstone Park’s western border. It is also one of the few “pet friendly” trails in Montana. This is also a “free” no fee trail, perfect for families and kids. This easy trail is groomed to accommodate classic cross-country skiers and snowshoers alike. The Trail can be accessed from Boundary Street, the truck pull-out on Highway 191/287, and Baker’s Hole Campground.

RIVERSIDE TRAIL
Ski right into Yellowstone National Park, along the Madison River where you could catch a glimpse of bald eagles soaring, frosty bison grazing or a beautiful pair of trumpeter swans swimming by. The Riverside Trail crosses very easy terrain. New skiers can try out the sport and ski to impressive views inside Yellowstone National Park. Locals send families and photographers on this trail frequently. Views include the 10,336-foot Mt. Holmes and the Gallatin Mountain Range. Bison, elk, and moose frequent the river area and sometimes use the packed trail.

West Yellowstone is undoubtedly a snowmobiler’s paradise. With more than 143 inches of snow annually, and 400 miles of trails through some of the most breathtaking scenery anywhere, it continues to top the list of favorite sledding destinations. The trail system begins right in town, where snowmobilers share city streets with motorists, and onto trails in the Custer-Gallatin, Beaverhead and Targhee National forests. Groomed trails provide access to off-trail powder meadows and more advanced back country riding.

Local businesses provide snowmobile and clothing rentals on a daily or multi-day basis. Snowmobile rentals range from two-up easy riding and trail models to high-powered sleds adapted for mountain and back country riding. Additional equipment, including avalanche beacons and shovels for back country riding can also be rented. National Forest guide service is also available for snowmobilers new to the area, and who want to learn more about the trail system or for back country riding.

POOPULAR TRAILS

TWO TOP TRAIL: The most famous trail has a variety of terrain and 2,000-foot elevation gain. The trail is groomed, and powder fields abound. On clear days, the surrounding mountain ranges come into view, including the Teton’s, Centennial Mountains, Lionhead, and Yellowstone National Park. On the mountain top, constant driven winds produce ghostly ice patterns on the trees creating the famous ‘snow ghosts.’

More experienced riders can access extra off-trail riding from the Two Top or Lionhead Trail. LIONHEAD follows the Continental Divide, climbing through switchbacks to over 10,000 feet. There are numerous bowls with drop offs and overhanging cliffs.

THE BIG SKY TRAIL provides some of the best backcountry snowmobiling in Montana. This challenging 110-mile trail begins just north of West Yellowstone. While the first portion is groomed, the trail quickly turns into an un-groomed powder experience. This area has open bowls, deep fields of snow, and outstanding hill climbing opportunities.

THE SOUTH PLATEAU TRAIL runs along the boundary of Yellowstone. You can ride this trail out and back, or link it up with one of the other trails to make a great loop ride. It provides great views of the area’s mountains, following creeks and rivers away from the crowds.

THE MADISON ARM LOOP located north and west of town, is 20 miles in length. The trail is well maintained and usually provides great wildlife viewing opportunities.

HORSE BUTTE LOOP: Another good trail for beginners, the 20-mile trail travels the shores of Hebgen Lake.

Looking for rustic, retro or traditional dining options? West Yellowstone has a fine array of cuisine year-round, from family fare to fine dining.

ENJOY OUR REGIONAL SPECIALTIES like trout, elk and bison or traditional Western cuisine. Be sure to top it off with a Montana huckleberry treat! The rustic history of West Yellowstone can be seen throughout many of our dining facilities, including rustic lodges and even a historic train car!

COFFEE, SWEETS AND TREATS
For a different pace, try one of the cafes, pancake houses, coffee houses or bistros. You will find a place to hang out and enjoy a cup of coffee or tea, and to satisfy that sweet tooth, there’s a savory selection of bakeries, ice cream shops and even an old-fashioned candy store.
SHOPPING

After a day in Yellowstone, many people like to stroll the streets of West Yellowstone, perusing the shops which carry everything from souvenirs to jewelry, Montana-made pottery, home décor, and the latest in outdoor gear. You can visit with one of the fishing experts and learn to tie flies at one of the fly fishing shops, or find that one-of-a-kind piece made by one of our local artists. Many of the establishments are locally-owned and family-run.

Courtney Ferguson views Yellowstone Bear World as his family serving families. After all, his family has owned and operated the wildlife attraction since it opened in 1998.

“We’re a drive-through wildlife park offering families encounters with majestic animals that can sometimes be hard to spot in Yellowstone, including bears, wolves, elk, moose, and bison,” Ferguson says, of the 120-acre wildlife park. “Folks can also bottle-feed bear cubs for a memory that will last a lifetime!”

In addition to self-guided drive-through tours, Yellowstone Bear World offers guided tours in an open-air vehicle that offer birds-eye views of North American wildlife, a petting zoo, and an amusement park that includes train rides and a rollercoaster. And with all-day access, families can drive through time and again.

“On the guided tours, we talk about the personalities and traits of each animal in the park, and, of course, the fascinating hibernation cycles of the bears,” Ferguson says. “It’s also a great photo opportunity because the animals come right up to our guided-tour vehicle where visitors can feed them.”

“We opened the park because of my father’s experiences as a child,” Ferguson says. “His family would take trips to Yellowstone, and be fascinated by all the animals and the ‘bear jams’ that would clog the road for hours. We wanted to recreate that childhood experience here.”

Yellowstone Bear World is located near Rexburg, Idaho, along the southwestern edge of the Yellowstone National Park. Yellowstone Bear World is open seven days a week from Memorial Day Weekend through mid-October. Weekend-only access begins April 16.
